From Saturday Auguſt 8, to Tueſday Auguſt 11, 1761.

Gibraltar, July 6.

HIS Majeſty having been graciouſly pleaſed, as a Mark of His Royal Approbation of the many and eminent Services of Vice Admiral Saunders, to nominate him to be one of the Knights Companions of the moſt Honourable Order of the Bath; and to commiſſion Major General Parſlow, Commander in Chief of this Garriſon, to inveſt him with the Enſigns of the ſaid Order; and His Majeſty having been pleaſed to ſignify His Royal Pleaſure, that the Ceremony ſhould be performed in the moſt honourable and diſtinguiſhed Manner, that Circumſtances would allow thereof, thereby to mark His Majeſty's juſt Senſe of the conſtant Zeal and ſignal Abilities which Vice Admiral Saunders has exerted in the Service of his King and Country; Saturday the 4th Inſtant was appointed for performing the Ceremony. About Noon, the Admiral came from his Ship to the Waterport, (or uſual Landing-Place) wearing the Star of the Order; his Flag flying in his Barge, and attended by the Captains of his Squadron in their Barges. At his Landing he was received by Major General Parſlow, and ſaluted with nineteen Guns from the Garriſon.

The Streets were lined with Troops under Arms, from the Waterport to the Church; and the Proceſſion was made in the following Order.

A Company of Artillery, as the Van of the Eſcort, preceded by Muſick.

The Staff Officers of the Garriſon, two and two.

The Naval Officers of the Port, two and two.

Lieutenants of the Navy, two and two.

Captains of Marines, two and two.

Captains of the Navy, two and two.

Major General Parſlow's Secretary, carrying the King's Commiſſion upon a Velvet Cuſhion.

Major General Parſlow's Aids de Camp.

Major General Parſlow, as King's Commiſſioner.

Vice Admiral Saunders's Secretary, carrying the Enſigns of the Order on a Velvet Cuſhion.

Vice Admiral Saunders's three Eſquires.

Vice Admiral Saunders, ſupported by Mr. Commiſſioner Colby and Colonel Toovey.

The Grenadiers of the Six Regiments of the Garriſon following, as the Rear of the Eſcort.

In this Manner the Proceſſion was made to the Church, where two Chairs of State were placed near the Altar; one for the Sovereign, having an Eſcutcheon of His Royal Arms and Titles over it; and the other for Vice Admiral Saunders, having an Eſcutcheon of his Arms and Titles over it. Another Chair was placed for Major General Parſlow.

Upon entring the Church, every Perſon made three Reverences to the Sovereign's State; and the Enſigns and Commiſſion were laid on a Table before the Sovereign's State. Vice Admiral Saunders ſat down in his Chair; and Major General Parſlow by his Side, the Muſick playing. After a little Pauſe, Major General Parſlow, ſtanding up, made a ſhort Speech on the Occaſion; which was anſwered, in a very polite Manner, by Vice Admiral Saunders. Major General Parſlow then ordered his Secretary to read the Commiſſion; which being done, he inveſted Vice Admiral Saunders with the Riban.

As ſoon as that Ceremony was performed, all the Grenadiers, (who were drawn up near the Church-Door) fired three Vollies: The laſt of which ſerved as a Signal for another Salute by the Guns of the Garriſon; and, as ſoon as that was finiſhed, nineteen Guns were fired from each of the King's Ships in the Bay; the Admiral's Ship being adorned with a Diſplay of Colours. A Proceſſion was then made out of the Church, in the ſame Manner as before, to the Governor's Apartments; where all the Gentlemen, who attended the Proceſſion, together with the Field Officers, and Captains, of the Garriſon, about 150 in Number, were entertained at Dinner, accompanied by the General of the Spaniſh Camp, his Lady, and other Spaniſh Ladies and Officers.

The Evening concluded with a Ball, and cold Collation; at which were preſent all the abovementioned Company, and all the Ladies and Gentlemen of the Garriſon.

Petersburgh, July 10. On the Names-Day of his Imperial Highneſs the Great Duke, and his Imperial Highneſs the young Great Duke, a poor Sailor, to celebrate the Holiday with extraordinary Devotion, had placed a Candle before a favourite Saint on Board a Lighter, that was loading at the Warehouſes, to which it ſet Fire; and as no Aſſiſtance could poſſibly be given, the Whole was utterly deſtroyed in a few Hours. It is impoſſible to fix the Loſs with any Certainty; but it is generally computed, that the Quantity burnt is 500,000 Poods of Hemp, and 200,000 Poods of Flax, which may be reckoned at One Million of Roubles.

Dantzig, July 25. The Ruſſian Fleet being ſeparated in a Gale of Wind two Days after their Departure from hence, ſeveral of them loſt their Maſts and Rigging, &c. and were otherwiſe much damaged, and ſome of their Tranſports were ſtranded. There is yet no certain Account here, to what Ports the greateſt Part of their Fleet is driven.

Berlin, July 28. The King of Pruſſia remained in the Camp of Pultzen till the 20th; but upon Generally Loudohn's advancing to Frankenſtein, and being joined with the detached Corps of Bethlem and Draſkowitz, which had been till then in the Neighbourhood of Neiſſe, his Pruſſian Majeſty decamped on the 21ſt from Pultzen, and marched towards Nimptſch. Marſhal Butterlin had his Head Quarters on the 18th at Priſtawe, between Militſch and Wartenberg. Colonel Loſſow having been to reconnoitre the Ruſſians, Marſhal Butterlin detached ſome Regiments of Huſſars in order to cut off his Retreat; but Colonel Loſſow, on the Night of the 18th, ſurpriſed thoſe Regiments with ſo much Succeſs, that he killed 20 Men, made 2 Officers, 14 under Officers, 2 Surgeons, and 106 Huſſars Priſoners, took 100 Horſes, and diſperſed the reſt. As the Ruſſian Army draw more and more towards the Higher Sileſia, the Body of Troops, which watches them on the Right Side of the Oder, left, on the 21ſt, the Camp of Hundsfeld, and marched towards Brieg. General Remanzow remains quiet in his Camp at Coeſlin, waiting for the Arrival of the Ruſſian Fleet, which was ſeen the 15th off Dantzig ſailing towards Colberg; but this Fleet has been ſince, by Streſs of Weather, forced into Pillau. The Swedes paſſed the Peene on the 19th, and made at Demmin 100 Men of Hordt's Free Battalion (which was garriſoned in that Place) Priſoners. In Saxony Prince Henry and Marſhal Daun ſtill keep their reſpective Poſitions at Schlettau and Planen.

Brunſwick,

[Price Three pence.]

Brunſwick, July 31. The French have, within theſe few Days paſt, advanced a Body of Troops to Hamelesburg, near to Hamelen, on the other Side of the Weſer; and on this Side, they are likewiſe making Diſpoſitions, as if they had ſome Deſign on that Place. Two Hundred Bakers are come from Caſſel to Gottingen, where M. de Belſunce is alſo arrived with 6000 Men: This has obliged Colonel Freytag, who has been ſo ſucceſsful in his Incurſions into Heſſe, to retire to Oſterode, in the Hartz, to watch the future Motions of the Enemy.

Magdebourg, Auguſt 1. There are Letters of the 28th of July from the King of Pruſſia's Head Quarters at Gieſmanſdorff near Nieſſe, where his Majeſty arrived on the 22d of that Month, by a forced March of no leſs than eight German Miles. It is ſaid that by this March his Pruſſian Majeſty has prevented General Laudohn from occupying an advantageous Poſt, which would have facilitated his Junction with the Ruſſians.

Duſſeldorff, Auguſt 2. It is expected the King's Houſehold will arrive and encamp not far from hence To-morrow, and that the reſt of Prince Soubize's Army will be put in Cantoonments round about this City.

Hague, Auguſt 4. We have no News directly from Prince Ferdinand ſince the 28th of July; but the Accounts received here from other Places are, That his Serene Highneſs was advanced to Geſeeke. He is joined by the Corps of General Sporcken, and Wangenheim, which ſupply the Abſence of the Hereditary Prince, who was obſerving the Prince of Soubize.

Advices from Sileſia ſay, that the Ruſſians and Auſtrians had not as yet joined. His Pruſſian Majeſty had taken a Camp near Munſterburg, which the Auſtrian General had marked out, and where he loſt his Quarter Maſters, and their Attendants, with Part of the Baggage already come up to the Ground.

From Saxony we hear, that the Army of the Empire had made a Motion forward to Runnebu g. in the County of Altenbourg; but a Detachment from them, ſent towards Leipſic, had been obliged to retire with Loſs, by General Kl-iſt, whom Prince Henry of Pruſſia had ſent to oppoſe them.

Hague, Auguſt 7. Prince Ferdinand's Head Quarters were at Buren on the 3d Inſtant; and the Marquis of Granby, with the Van-guard, at Haaren. Marſhal Broglio was then at Lichtenau. The Town of Paderborn had been repoſſeſſed by the Allied Troops. The French were forming Magazines at Gottingen, and throwing up ſome Entrenchments at Hoxter. The Prince of Soubize continued behind the Roer, but his Views were not yet known. The ſame Letters ſay, that Prince Henry of Brunſwick was in a fair Way of doing well. There are Accounts here, that the Part of the Ruſſian Fleet, which had been diſperſed by a Storm in their Voyage between Dantzig and Colberg, was driven into Pillau.
